Jacksonville University is the proud home to the Keigwin School of Nursing

Jacksonville University is the proud home to the Keigwin School of Nursing, thanks to a multi-million dollar gift from Beverly and Jack Keigwin that was announced on Wednesday, March 1, 2017. The Keigwins' donation is the largest in the nursing school's 36 year history. Jack Keigwin, former Board of Trustee member, executive-in-residence and friend to the University said the gift is one of the most meaningful ones he and his wife have made. Beverly Keigwin, a former nurse, and successful businesswoman has devoted her time, energy, and passion to the School of Nursing's students.

Jacksonville University is deeply grateful to the Keigwin family for their incredible generosity, which enables us to continue delivering high-quality nursing education that positively impacts our students, local patients and their families, and the broader Jacksonville community.

Brief History of the Nursing Pinning Ceremony

Pinning marks the completion of the initial nursing education and welcomes the graduate into the profession of nursing. Pinning dates back to the Crusades during the 12th century where monks who were “Knights of the Order of the Hospital of St. John the Baptist” served the sick and injured. When new monks joined the order, they were given a Maltese cross to wear on their arm.

The modern ceremony of pinning dates to the 1860's and Florence Nightingale. In recognition of her service to the injured soldiers during the Crimean War, Florence was honored with the Red Cross of St. George. She, in turn, decided to award her best students with a medal of excellence, a symbolic “badge of courage”.

In 1916, the tradition of awarding a pin to all nursing graduates became common practice throughout the United States. The pin indicates the institution from which the nurse received their education.

Brief History of the Graduate Hooding Ceremony

The master's and doctoral hoods are modern interpretations of the hooded robes worn by medieval monks who taught in the first universities. The formal hooding ceremony is said to have originated in the 11th or 12th century in European universities. The academic hood represents the level of academic achievement earned by the graduating candidate. It is a symbolic ceremony representing the “passing of the guard” whereas the candidate presents themselves to their faculty, and they welcome them into the academic rank earned by placing their hood over their head. Once a hood is earned, it continues to represent the commitment to lifelong learning.

Honoring the Legacy of Henry Jack Keigwin

Jack was the oldest of three children born in "small town" New England. He and his brothers were soon separated when their mother passed away. Once grown, Jack went on to attend Bates College on a full scholarship. He took his first job in New York City and, after five years of corporate life, Jack set out to begin his own entrepreneurial journey. The first stop on that path was earning an MBA from the Harvard Business School, which was possible because of the love and support of his beloved wife of 63 years, Beverly "Bev" French Keigwin. After graduate school, Jack went on to lead several business ventures, including building a new manufacturing plant for C&C Yachts in Kiel, Germany. Upon the family's return to the U.S., Jack and Bev spent the next 20 years building a real estate development company, which constructed, managed and owned commercial properties in New England. Through the generous support from Mr. and Mrs. Keigwin, Jacksonville University's school of nursing became the Keigwin School of Nursing in 2017. We are so proud to wear the Keigwin name and carry on the legacy of Mr. Keigwin!

Symbolism of the Pin

The graduate pin is a tradition in schools of nursing dating back to the birth of modern nursing in the 1800s. Every school's pin presents the symbolism of the school's core beliefs. The Jacksonville University School of Nursing pin was designed in 1986 by a committee of students from the first three classes and was approved by all the students and faculty in the school. The pin was updated in 2016 to include the current title of the Keigwin School of Nursing.

The pin is a white enamel circle about the size of a quarter, which surrounds a green cross. The white color reflects our respect for the traditions and history of nursing. The green cross represents the deeply personal and humanistic quality of our profession. The cross also represents the bond between a strong academic foundation and clinical practice, each of which is made stronger by the bond with the other.

Within the circle are written the words "Jacksonville University Keigwin School of Nursing" separated by two gold stars. The stars represent the pride in our past accomplishments and the promise of our future, to which we aspire as graduates of Jacksonville University.

A gold braid surrounds the pin. The braid symbolizes the unity provided by the liberal core of our education.

The flame of knowledge resides in the center of the pin. It holds forth the illumination of the knowledge we carry with us from the Jacksonville University Keigwin School of Nursing and lights our way as we travel the path in our nursing careers.
