PART TWO: FACULTY RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

These articles constitute rules established by Jacksonville University to govern the personnel and contractual affairs of the faculty.

ARTICLE I

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

Jacksonville University considers a free and unconstrained exchange of information essential among its faculty, staff, and students. While the faculty fully supports the free exchange of ideas, an explicit guarantee of academic freedom is made to faculty members through this article. Jacksonville University adopts the following portions taken verbatim from the AAUP 1940 Statement of Principles on Academic Freedom and Tenure, a restatement of principles first set forth in 1925:

The purpose of this statement is to promote public understanding and support of academic freedom...and agreement upon procedures to ensure...[academic freedom] in colleges and universities. Institutions of higher education are conducted for the common good and not to further the interest of either the individual teacher or the institution as a whole. The common good depends upon the free search for truth and its free exposition.
Academic freedom is essential to these purposes and applies to both teaching and research. Freedom in research is fundamental to the advancement of truth. Academic freedom in its teaching aspect is fundamental for the protection of the rights of the teacher in teaching and of the student to freedom in learning. It carries with it duties correlative with rights.

Tenure is a means to certain ends; specifically: (1) freedom of teaching and research and of extramural activities, and (2) a sufficient degree of economic security to make the profession attractive to men and women of ability. Freedom and economic security, hence, tenure, are indispensable to the success of an institution in fulfilling its obligations to its students and to society.

a. Teachers are entitled to full freedom in research and in the publication of the results, subject to the adequate performance of their other academic duties; but research for pecuniary return should be based upon an understanding with the authorities of the institution.

b. Teachers are entitled to freedom in the classroom in discussing their subject, but they should be careful not to introduce into their teaching controversial matter which has no relation to their subject. Limitations of academic freedom because of religious or other aims of the institution should be clearly stated in writing at the time of the appointment.

c. College and university teachers are citizens, members of a learned profession, and officers of an educational institution. When they speak or write as citizens, they should be free from institutional censorship or discipline, but their special position in the community imposes special obligations. As scholars and educational officers, they should remember that the public may judge their profession and their institution by their utterances. Hence they should at all times be accurate, should exercise appropriate restraint, should show respect for the opinions of others, and should make every effort to indicate that they are not speaking for the institution.

All full-time, part-time, adjunct, and visiting faculty members, tenured and non-tenured, enjoy full academic freedom. All full-time and part-time students enrolled in any course, credit or non-credit, also enjoy full academic freedom.

Any faculty member who believes his or her academic freedom to have been abridged may direct a written grievance to the chair of the Committee on Academic Freedom and Grievance, citing the abridgment in detail, providing corroborating documentation, and requesting corrective action.

ARTICLE II

TENURE

Section 1. Eligibility
Tenure exists to protect academic freedom in teaching, professional development, scholarship, and service (which can include administrative duties for their department or division). Faculty members earn tenure by demonstrating their expertise and achievement in these areas. For this reason, Jacksonville University awards tenure for faculty work, but not for administrative work. Tenure is granted in accordance with procedures developed by faculty and administration. A faculty member is eligible to earn and hold tenure unless he or she is appointed to a non-tenure track position.

A faculty member who is eligible to earn tenure shall be so informed in the annual contract. The contract shall state both the year of service during which tenure may be considered and the pre-tenure review year.

When the University hires new faculty or academic administrators tenured at other institutions, it may, after consultation with tenured faculty in the appropriate units as defined in Part Two, Article II, Section 4, recognize tenure granted by another institution. Alternatively, academic administrators moving to faculty status may earn tenure by following standard procedures for tenure-track faculty. Deferred or early tenure decisions can be addressed on a case-by-case basis.

Section 2. Timetable and Standards for Tenure

After completing five years of service and completion of a pre-tenure review, an eligible faculty member will apply for tenure. Prior to applying, three of the five years must have been completed at Jacksonville University. A maximum of two years of service at other institutions of higher learning with documentation of teaching, professional development and scholarship, and service at the level of tenure track assistant professor or higher may be counted in the years of service for tenure consideration. A maximum of two years of service at Jacksonville University in a full-time, non-tenure-track faculty position may be counted in the years of service for tenure consideration. However, faculty who have been granted tenure at another institution and shown evidence of excellence in the teaching, professional development and scholarship can negotiate tenure at the time of hire. The negotiation process will include consultation with the tenured faculty in the division or comparable unit.

Tenure is determined for each individual based upon academic credentials and years of service at Jacksonville University and other academic institutions (see above). An affirmative tenure decision must be based upon achievement in the areas of teaching, professional development and scholarship (e.g. research and creative activities), and service to the university. Faculty who have taken on administrative duties for their department or division may count these duties toward tenure. However, faculty on a tenure-track appointment typically have at least a 50 percent teaching load. Additionally, faculty members are expected to interact in a cooperative and collaborative manner in fulfilling their professional obligations.

Section 3. Pre-Tenure Evaluations
Candidates for tenure will undergo a pre-tenure review during their mid-point of service toward tenure at Jacksonville University as determined by the CAO in consultation with the faculty member. Candidates will submit a pre-tenure portfolio which provides evidence of the candidate’s achievements in the areas of teaching, professional development and scholarship (e.g. research and creative activities), and service to the university. Candidates will submit the portfolio by February 1 to the division chair or comparable unit administrator. Tenured division members (exclusive of the division chair or comparable unit administrator) will elect a convener who shall assemble the tenured members for a discussion of the candidate's progress towards tenure as outlined in Part Two, Article II, Section 2. The convener will submit an agreed-upon summary of that discussion to the division chair or comparable unit administrator. In units without a division chair or comparable unit administrator, the convener will submit the summary directly to the dean. The summary shall be given to the CAO, dean, and candidate by May 1. The division chair, comparable unit administrator, or dean forward the record of the pre-tenure review to the Committee on Tenure and Promotion during the final tenure evaluation process.

Section 4. Tenure Evaluation Process

In May following the fifth year of service, the dean shall notify the eligible faculty member that they must submit their tenure portfolio for consideration to the division chair or comparable higher unit administrator by October 15. The faculty member shall submit to the division chair or comparable unit administrator two copies of a portfolio which provide evidence of the candidate’s achievements in the areas of teaching, professional development and scholarship (e.g. research and creative activities), and service to the university. After reviewing the candidate's documentation, the tenured faculty members of the academic division or comparable unit (exclusive of the division chair or comparable unit administrator) will elect a convener who shall assemble the tenured members for a discussion of the candidate’s qualifications. The convener will submit an agreed-upon summary of that discussion to the division chair or comparable unit administrator. In units without a division chair or-comparable unit administrator, the convener will submit the summary directly to the dean and the Committee on Tenure and Promotion. Subsequent to this meeting, each tenured faculty member shall submit in writing a confidential vote to the unit administrator for or against tenure. By December 1, the candidate shall be informed by the unit administrator whether the vote was favorable or unfavorable and provided with the summary submitted by the convener and with a copy of the division chair or comparable unit administrator’s evaluation and recommendation for or against tenure.

By December 1, the division chair or unit administrator shall submit to the dean the following information:

- pre-tenure evaluations
Jacksonville University Faculty Bylaws
Amended and Restated: Effective July 1, 2019

757 • academic unit administrator’s written evaluation and 758 recommendation for or against tenure
759 • the summary prepared by the convener
760 • the result (overall favorable or unfavorable, not the numerical count) 761 of the vote of the tenured members of the academic division or 762 comparable unit
763 • one copy of the candidate's portfolio. (The other copy shall be 764 returned to the candidate.)
765
766 By January 15, the dean shall submit his or her recommendation, along with the entire 767 contents of the portfolio to the Committee on Tenure and Promotion for their review and 768 recommendation. The dean shall also provide the candidate with a copy of his or her 769 letter of recommendation for or against tenure. The Committee on Tenure and Promotion 770 shall review all materials submitted. The final recommendation by the Committee on 771 Tenure and Promotion should be submitted to the CAO by March 15.
772
773 The candidate can at any time rebut the recommendations made by the tenured members 774 of the academic unit, the division chair or comparable unit administrator, or the dean.
775 Rebuttals from the candidate should be submitted within five business days of their 776 receiving the recommendation at each level and will be added to the portfolio prior to 777 moving to the next level. The CAO shall use all portfolio materials and recommendations 778 (favorable or unfavorable) from the tenured members of the unit, the unit administrator, 779 the dean, and the Committee on Tenure and Promotion, in addition to any rebuttals from 780 the candidate when making a final decision on tenure. The final recommendation by the 781 CAO shall be provided to the candidate by April 15. The CAO shall then make 782 recommendations to the president. A copy of all documents used in the tenure-granting 783 process shall be retained by the CAO for a period of three years from the time of the 784 decision and then returned to the candidate.
785
786 Section 5. Granting Tenure
787 788 Upon the positive recommendation of the president, final approval for tenure decisions is 789 made by the Board of Trustees during the spring. Tenure goes into effect with approval of 790 the Board of Trustees. There is no tenure, absent approval of the Board of Trustees.
791
792 Section 6. Continuation of Tenure
793
794 A faculty member who has earned tenure continues to hold it so long as three conditions 795 continue to be met:
796
797 • the faculty member maintains and demonstrates professional competence;
798 • the faculty member adheres to legal and ethical standards;
799 • the faculty member's position is not terminated due to financial exigency.
The lapse of one or more of these conditions may result in the loss of tenure.

Although not necessarily, loss of tenure (based on Section 7 below) may mean immediate dismissal. Employment may be continued on probationary terms to be set by the CAO. Tenure may be reinstated on terms to be set by the CAO in consultation with the Committee on Tenure and Promotion. For specifics regarding loss of tenure and notification of said loss (see Part Two, Article IX).

Section 7. Post-Tenure Review

During the fifth year after receiving tenure, and every fifth year of service thereafter, a tenured faculty member shall undergo a post-tenure review. This review shall be conducted jointly by the division chair or comparable unit administrator and the dean. For their review they shall use annual evaluations, faculty activity reports, teaching evaluations, and other documentation at their disposal covering the previous five-year period. The member being evaluated shall provide a current curriculum vitae and goals for the next five years in the areas of teaching, professional development and scholarship (e.g. research and creative activities), and service, and shall be allowed to present additional documentation. No portfolio is required of the faculty member.

The purpose of post-tenure review is to maintain and improve faculty performance, and should not to be construed as a punitive device. The basic standard for appraisal shall be whether the faculty member under review discharges his or her duties conscientiously and with professional competence.

The faculty member does not bear the burden to justify retention. Furthermore, the dean and division chair must both agree and demonstrate that there are serious deficiencies in the overall performance of the faculty member to warrant the sanction of a post-tenure probationary period.

If, on the basis of this review, the division chair or unit administrator and the dean find that the faculty member's performance is unacceptable, the dean after consultation with the faculty member shall recommend to the CAO that the faculty member be given a probationary period of three years in which to improve his or her performance. Criteria for acceptable improvement shall be detailed in writing and thoroughly discussed with and understood by the faculty member. Failure to meet these criteria by the end of the probationary period may constitute grounds for removal of a tenured faculty member under the provisions of Part Two, Article IX, Section 3. All pertinent materials used in the evaluation shall be retained by the dean for a period of five years.

Section 8. Appeal

Should a faculty member disagree with the application of one or more of the provisions outlined in this article, he or she may submit a written appeal to the chair of the Committee on Academic Freedom and Grievance.
ARTICLE III

NEW FACULTY APPOINTMENTS

Section 1. Filling a Vacancy

When the division chair or unit administrator, in consultation with the dean and the CAO, determines a vacancy in a department exists, the chair shall, with the dean and CAO’s approval, appoint a search committee. Prior to the search, the rank and salary range of the position shall be recommended to the CAO by the appropriate dean. The CAO shall inform the division chair or unit administrator and the search committee of the salary range. The search committee shall consist of at least three but no more than five faculty members, one of whom should be tenured. The division chair, comparable unit administrator, or academic dean shall not serve on the committee. Where faculty size in the unit permits, the chair of the search committee shall be from the discipline in which the vacancy exists, and the majority of committee members shall be from that discipline. Other committee members may be from outside the discipline and one member may be from outside the college. The search committee shall make an appropriate search to select and rank the candidates who seem best qualified to fill the needs of the department. After preliminary discussions with the top candidates about rank, salary range, and other pertinent information, the chair of the search committee shall invite a minimum of two but generally the top three candidates to the campus for interviews.

Section 2. Conducting a Search

Members of the faculty and administration shall interview the candidates, determine their suitability, and report to the chair of the search committee. The search committee shall then rank the acceptable candidates and the chair of the committee shall inform the division chair or unit administrator of the committee’s decision. The division chair or unit administrator shall then forward to the dean the committee’s rankings and recommendation. If the administration and the search committee cannot reach agreement on a candidate, all parties shall meet to seek consensus.

Section 3. Appointment of a Faculty Member

After a candidate has been selected, the dean of the college, in consultation with the CAO, shall offer the individual a contract which stipulates rank, salary, teaching load, and complete information concerning tenure expectations and eligibility. The candidate will be given an appropriate time-frame in which to respond. If the contract is not accepted, the search committee shall be consulted before another candidate is offered a contract or the search is suspended.
ARTICLE IV

RANK AND PROMOTION

Section 1. Evaluation for Promotion - Procedure

An eligible faculty member who wishes to be considered for promotion shall submit two copies of her/his promotion portfolio to the division chair or comparable unit administrator no later than October 15. Evaluation of individuals for promotion will be done by the division chair or unit administrator, the dean, the Committee on Tenure and Promotion, the CAO, and the president. Prior to December 1, the division chair or appropriate unit administrator shall submit all supporting documents to the dean. The division chair or comparable unit administrator shall also provide the candidate with a copy of his/her letter of recommendation for or against promotion.

By January 15, the dean shall submit his or her recommendation, along with the entire contents of the portfolio, to the Committee on Tenure and Promotion for their review and recommendation. The dean shall also provide the candidate with a copy of his or her letter of recommendation for or against promotion. The Committee on Tenure and Promotion shall review all materials submitted and make their recommendation for or against promotion to the CAO by March 15. A copy of their recommendation will be made available to the candidate by the CAO. The candidate can at any time rebut recommendations made by the division chair or comparable unit administrator, the dean, or the Committee on Tenure and Promotion. Rebuttals from the candidate should be submitted within five business days of their receiving the recommendation and will be added to the portfolio. The CAO shall use all portfolio materials and recommendations (favorable or unfavorable) from the unit administrator, the dean, and the Committee on Tenure and Promotion. The CAO shall then make recommendations to the president. A copy of all documents used in the promotion-granting process shall be retained by the CAO for a period of three years from the time of the decision and then returned to the faculty member.

Section 2. Evaluation for Promotion - Criteria

Advancement from one academic rank to the next is determined for each individual in accordance with standards and procedures developed by faculty and administration and is based upon academic credentials, years of service at Jacksonville University and other academic institutions, and achievement in the areas of teaching, scholarship (e.g. research and creative activities), professional development, and service to the university.

Section 3. Category and Rank – General Description

To teach in a discipline, individuals of all categories and ranks must be at least academically qualified according to the accreditation criteria of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and criteria of the respective college’s accrediting bodies.
a. Faculty positions at Jacksonville University fall into one of the following categories:

- Adjunct (Part Time) Faculty - This position is appropriate for part-time faculty members who are assigned class-related responsibilities only. Adjuncts normally teach no more than half-time and on course-by-course contracts. This is a non-tenure-track position.

- Visiting Faculty – These positions are appropriate as full-time teaching positions on a temporary basis. The individual may hold rank. Visiting Faculty are normally awarded one-year contracts. Visiting appointments cannot be extended beyond an individual's third year of employment at Jacksonville University. This is a non-tenure-track position. Visiting faculty positions can be converted to a tenure-track faculty position with the express approval of the faculty within the appropriate academic unit, the division chair or administrative chair, the dean, and the CAO.

- Non-Tenure-Track Faculty – This position is appropriate when an individual is selected to fulfill particular institutional needs and with the express approval of the faculty within the appropriate academic unit. This is a full-time faculty position. The individual may hold rank, is eligible for promotion, and may serve in such capacities as instructor, clinical assistant, associate or full professor, artist in residence, lecturer or senior lecturer, librarian, or endowed chairs. This is a non-tenure-track position with variable terms and contracts are typically renewed annually. If the contract is not to be renewed, then the timeline must be followed as indicated in Article VIII. A combination of administrative feedback, mentoring, and time for the faculty member to refocus teaching and research efforts seems in order.

- Tenure-Track Faculty – This position is a full-time faculty position. The individual will hold rank and is eligible for promotion. This is a tenure-track position and contracts are issued typically annually.

b. Rank shall be determined at the time of hire. To advance from one rank to another, faculty members shall go through the proper application process outlined in Part Two, Article IV. Full-time faculty at Jacksonville University may hold the following ranks:

- Assistant Professor - An individual holding this rank should demonstrate high potential to excel in the three areas of evaluation. Generally, a terminal degree in the area in which the individual teaches is required.

- Associate Professor – An individual holding this rank typically holds a terminal degree in the area in which the individual teaches. The individual must have demonstrated the ability to excel in the three areas of evaluation. The individual must have completed a minimum of five years of full time college-level teaching at the time of application. Two of the five years must be completed at Jacksonville University. These requirements apply in the case of promotion. However, the university administration can bring in a faculty member at any rank.

- Professor - An individual holding this rank must have demonstrated excellence in the three areas of evaluation. A terminal degree in the area in which the individual teaches is required. The individual must have completed a minimum of ten years of full-time college-level teaching at the time of application. At least five of the ten years must be completed at Jacksonville University. These requirements apply in the case of promotion. The university administration can, however, at the time of hire bring in a faculty member at any rank.

- Emeritus – Emeritus faculty are retired Jacksonville University faculty who have previously held tenure at Jacksonville University. “Emeritus faculty” is an honorary title which does not carry teaching or other duties, but which may entitle the holder access to certain college resources and facilities, if available. Faculty can be nominated or apply for this status. Nominations and applications are made to the CAO.

Section 4. Salary Increases

In addition to any across the board and cost of living adjustments, salary increases shall be made on the basis of rank and merit. Recommendations for merit raises can be made by the CAO, on the basis of the academic dean’s recommendation to the CAO, the division chair or comparable unit administrator’s report, and other relevant factors.

ARTICLE V

SELECTION OF DIVISION CHAIRS AND COMPARABLE UNIT ADMINISTRATORS

Section 1. Search Committee

When a vacancy appears or is expected in a division chair or comparable unit administrator’s position, the academic dean or CAO (as appropriate) will provide advance notice to the division or unit concerned. The division or unit will elect a search committee consisting of three faculty with an option by secret ballot. Membership on the committee shall not be considered a deterrent to selection as division chair or unit administrator. The incumbent division chair or unit administrator shall not be a member of this committee.
Section 2. Candidate Selection

Following the election of the search committee, names of interested tenured faculty members within the division or unit shall be submitted to the committee. A ballot shall be given to the faculty. The committee shall keep the results of the vote confidential.

Section 3. Recommendations

The search committee shall send its recommendation to the academic dean. If the college dean chooses to accept one of the recommended candidates, this candidate shall be recommended to the CAO. If the academic dean does not accept any of the candidates, the academic dean and the committee shall meet in an effort to reach consensus.

Section 4. Appointment

The division chair or comparable unit administrator shall be appointed by the CAO upon recommendation by the academic dean. The appointment shall be for a term of four academic years, or for three and a fraction if the appointment occurs during an academic year.

It is the responsibility of all division chairs to distribute accurate and appropriate information to their constituencies. A division chair or comparable unit administrator may be reappointed for additional terms by the academic dean and reviewed by the CAO. The procedures of Article V, Sections 1-4, shall be followed for reappointments.

In the case of an unexpected vacancy or in case of a deadlock, the CAO may appoint an acting division chair or comparable unit administrator to serve until the above procedures can be fully implemented. Such acting appointments shall normally remain in effect a maximum of one year.

Section 5. Evaluation

A division chair or comparable unit administrator shall be evaluated annually by the division/unit. Evaluations shall be forwarded to the dean.

Section 6. Remuneration

The remuneration of division chairs or comparable unit administrator in the form of reduced teaching load or in other ways shall be determined by the dean and the CAO.

Section 7. Department Chairs

When a division chair, academic dean, and the CAO determine a need exists to establish a department within a division or a school, a chair shall be appointed by the division chair or unit administrator and academic dean. The department chair shall report to the division chair or appropriate unit administrator, who with the approval of the dean shall determine the role and function of the department chair. The department shall be maintained as long as the division chair, academic dean, and the CAO determine the need exists. The remuneration of department chairs, in the form of reduced teaching load or in other ways, shall be determined by the dean and CAO.

Section 8. Removal

A division chair, comparable unit administrator, or department chair may be removed from the position of chair by the CAO after consultation with the academic dean and the tenured members of the division, or appropriate unit, or department. Such removal shall not affect the chair's or unit administrator’s tenure or position as a member of the faculty.

ARTICLE VI

SELECTION OF THE CHIEF ACADEMIC OFFICER AND ACADEMIC DEANS

Section 1. Chief Academic Officer

a. Search Committee

When a vacancy occurs or is expected in the position of CAO, a faculty search committee shall be established. The search committee shall conduct a national search to select and rank the candidates who seem best qualified. The committee shall make recommendations on the candidates to the president.

Should the University decide to add, remove, or replace positions in Academic Affairs (e.g., Vice, Assistant- or Associate-CAO positions), the faculty should be consulted as outlined in Part I, Article II, c, regarding both the creation of any new position and who shall fill it.

b. The CAO search committee shall include two elected representatives from each college. The chair of the faculty shall serve on and chair the search committee.
Half of the committee’s membership shall be tenured faculty.

Should the chair of the faculty be a candidate, the individual shall withdraw from the search committee and be replaced by the vice chair of the faculty. Should the vice chair of the faculty also be a candidate, the secretary of the Faculty will replace the vice chair on the committee.

b. Candidate Selection
Candidates shall be interviewed by the faculty search committee, by the members of the faculty, and by the administration. Members of the faculty who interview the candidate shall report their views to the search committee. The search committee shall recommend acceptable nominees directly to the president.

c. Appointment

If the president is considering to appoint a CAO against the recommendations of the committee, the president shall meet with the committee and justify the reasons for the appointment.

The president, after discussion with the Executive Committee of the Faculty, may appoint an interim CAO, if necessary, until the procedures of this article result in an appointment. If a college is not represented on the Executive Committee of the Faculty, a representative shall be selected by the chair of the faculty to participate in the discussions between the Executive Committee of the Faculty and the president.

Interim appointments shall normally be for one calendar year. In the event it is necessary to extend the appointment, the president will confer in advance with the chair of the faculty and the Executive Committee. Extensions will normally not be made past one additional year.

d. Evaluation

The CAO shall be evaluated annually by the Faculty, as directed by Human Resources. Evaluations shall be forwarded to the president.

Section 2. Academic Deans

a. Search Committee

When a vacancy occurs or is expected in the position of an academic dean, a faculty search committee shall be established. The search committee shall conduct a national search to select and rank the candidates who seems best qualified. The committee shall make recommendations on the candidates to the CAO. Should the University decide to add assistant- or associate-dean positions, the faculty in the college should be consulted as outlined in Part I, Article II, c, regarding both the creation of any new position and who shall fill it. Additionally, when replacing Assistant or Associate Deans, the faculty in the college should be consulted.

The committee shall be composed of at least five and no more than seven elected representatives from the unit under the dean’s jurisdiction and the chair of the faculty. Half of the committee’s membership shall be tenured faculty. The committee should broadly represent the unit. The chair of the faculty shall preside over the search committee.

Should the chair of the faculty be a candidate, the individual shall withdraw from the search committee and be replaced by the vice chair of the faculty. Should the vice chair of the faculty also be a candidate or for any reason is unable to serve, the committee shall then elect one of its members to serve as chair.

b. Candidate Selection

Candidates shall be interviewed by the faculty search committee, by the members of the faculty, and by the administration. Members of the faculty who interview the candidate shall report their views to the search committee. The search committee shall recommend directly to the CAO, who shall inform the president of the committee’s recommendation, as well as his/her recommendation.

c. Appointment

If the president appoints (or announces the planned appointment of) a dean against the wishes of a majority of the committee, the president shall meet with the committee and justify the reasons for the appointment.

The president, after discussion with the CAO and Executive Committee of the Faculty, may appoint an interim dean, if necessary, until the procedures of this article result in an appointment. If the college is not represented on the Executive Committee of the Faculty, a representative from that college shall be selected by the chair of the faculty to participate in the discussions between the Executive Committee of the Faculty and the president.

Interim appointments shall normally be for one calendar year. In the event it is necessary to extend the appointment, the president will confer in advance with the chair of the faculty. Extensions will not be made past one additional year.

d. Evaluation

All deans shall be evaluated annually by the appropriate college faculty. Evaluations shall be administered by Human Resources and results forwarded to the CAO.

ARTICLE VII

SELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

Section 1. Search Committee
The faculty recommends that when selecting a new president of the University, the chair of the faculty be a member of the search committee created by the Board of Trustees. Additionally, the faculty recommends that four tenured faculty members, one elected by secret ballot within each college, shall serve on the search committee.

Section 2. Faculty Views

When a candidate for the presidency is brought to the campus, the faculty recommends it be given the opportunity to interview the candidate and report their views to a faculty representative of the search committee.

ARTICLE VIII

TERMINATION OF A NON-TENURED FULL-TIME APPOINTMENT

Termination of a non-tenured full-time (tenure-track or non-tenure-track, including Visiting Professors) appointment can occur when, following appropriate review, evaluation, and communication with the faculty member, it is judged that the faculty member is failing to fulfill the terms, conditions, and expectations of their appointment, or for financial exigency, professional incompetence, or cause.

Terminated faculty members alleging that the decision not to reappoint violated due process [as outlined in these bylaws or in the procedures developed by the administration and faculty (see Part Two, Article II, Section 1)] or was based upon discriminatory or prejudicial treatment may request review by the Committee on Academic Freedom and Grievance. The petitioning faculty member shall have the burden of introducing evidence sufficient to support a decision that the non-renewal resulted from a failure to follow due process or that the decision was based upon discriminatory or prejudicial facts and reasons. Review on appeal shall be limited to these areas of consideration.

Notice of non-reappointment will be given in writing in accordance with the following:

a. For a full-time faculty member who has served less than one academic year, notice shall be given not later than March 1 of that academic year.

b. For a full-time faculty member who has served more than one academic year, notice shall be given by December 15 of the current academic year.

c. For a full-time faculty member who has served two or more academic years, notice of a terminal contract shall be given no later than September 1 of the terminal year.

In cases of removal for cause, and only if immediate harm to the individual or others is threatened by continuance, the faculty member shall be temporarily suspended by the president after consultation with the Committee on Academic Freedom and Grievance, or assigned to other duties in lieu of suspension. Temporary suspension is appropriate only pending a hearing. Salary shall not be withheld during the period of temporary suspensions.

ARTICLE IX

TERMINATION OF A TENURED FACULTY MEMBER

Section 1. Reasons for Termination

Termination of a tenured faculty member’s position may be effected by the University only for financial exigency, for professional incompetence, or for cause, but not to restrain his or her academic freedom.

Section 2. Financial Exigency

Prior to a declaration of financial exigency by the University which could result in the termination of a faculty member’s position, the Planning and Budget Committee must participate in the decision that a condition of financial exigency exists or is imminent. In such situations, after full justification is presented to the Faculty Assembly at a formal meeting, faculty reduction may take place.

When reduction for financial exigency is justified, it shall be done in the following order:

- Non-tenured faculty members: Annual evaluations shall be used as criteria.
  Tenured faculty members within the unit or division shall meet and forward a recommendation to be forwarded to the division chair or appropriate unit administrator. The dean, in consultation with the division chair or unit administrator, when appropriate, shall make final recommendation to the CAO.

- Tenured faculty members: Reduction among tenured faculty members may then take place on the basis of consistency with the University’s mission and vision. The annual evaluations, departmental needs, University needs, and the recommendations of the division chairs or comparable unit administrator, deans, and CAO shall be used as criteria. Efforts shall be made prior to termination to place the faculty member in an appropriate position.

A tenured appointment terminated due to financial exigency shall not be filled by a replacement for three years, unless the released faculty member has first been offered the reappointment in writing and given a reasonable time to accept or decline it.

If questions arise about the financial survivability of the institution and the need to eliminate entire programs and departments, the Planning and Budget Committee, the Curriculum Committee, the Core Curriculum Committee, and the Executive Committee shall meet jointly to form recommendations to make to the CAO.
Section 3. Removal for Professional Incompetence

Removal for professional incompetence may result after a tenured faculty member, placed on probation for two consecutive years following a post-tenure review, fails to make documented progress towards fulfilling the criteria for a successful review (see Part Two, Article II, Section 7) as indicated in annual evaluations with her/his unit head. The faculty member will be supported throughout this process with a combination of committed administrative feedback, mentorship, and opportunity to fulfill the criteria.

The University Committee on Tenure and Promotion may review the Faculty Annual Activity Reports or FAAR(s) and annual evaluation(s) upon request of the faculty member and submit a recommendation supporting or not supporting the unit head’s findings to the CAO. If the faculty member is still deemed unsuccessful by his/her unit head at the end of the two-year probationary period, notice of termination must follow the time guidelines set forth in Article VIII category c. Under these conditions, a final recommendation supporting or not supporting the termination decision will be submitted by the Committee on Tenure and Promotion to the CAO.

Section 4. Removal for Cause - Due Process

With the exception of discrimination and harassment cases, removal for cause must be based upon greater weight of the evidence that the faculty member should not continue to fulfill the terms and conditions of his or her appointment.

In the case of removal for cause, the termination procedure must guarantee due process and shall be preceded by these steps:

1) Discussions between the faculty member and the CAO looking toward a mutual settlement.

2) A full hearing by the Committee on Tenure and Promotion. If termination is considered too severe, the committee shall recommend to the president at the conclusion of its hearing one of the following: dismissal of charges, written reprimand placed in the permanent file, probation, suspension with or without pay, reduction in pay, or reduction in rank. The proceeding shall be kept confidential.

3) The president may accept the Committee's recommendation, reject it, or refer it back for reconsideration in light of new evidence or hearing irregularities. Prior to the final decision being rendered, the president or the faculty member may initiate a mutual meeting.

Section 5. Removal for Cause – Discretionary Suspension
Pending the final decision, and only if immediate harm to the individual or others is threatened by continuance, the faculty member shall be temporarily suspended by the president after consultation with the Committee on Tenure and Promotion, or assigned to other duties in lieu of suspension. Temporary suspension is appropriate only pending a hearing. Salary shall not be withheld during the period of temporary suspension.

Section 6. Termination Contingencies

Upon termination for cause and upon recommendation of the Committee on Tenure and Promotion or of the president after consultation with the Committee on Tenure and Promotion, salary may be continued for a period not to exceed 12 months.

Full-time faculty engaged in outside employment shall inform their immediate supervisor of such employment, make certain that this outside employment does not represent a conflict of interest with employment at the University, and not accept an employment schedule that could or does present a conflict with duties and responsibilities as full-time employees of the University. Declarations of outside employment will be requested by the CAO’s office by May 15 and must be submitted to the CAO’s office by July 1 of each year.

Section 2. Leaves Without Pay (Unpaid Sabbaticals)

Leaves without pay may be granted upon written request to the division chair or comparable unit administrator who shall forward a recommendation to the dean, and then to the CAO. Such leaves do not count toward accumulation of time for tenure appointment, although a tenure appointment already granted is not affected by such leave.

Section 3. Leaves With Pay (Paid Sabbaticals)

apply for one semester at full-pay, or two semesters at half-pay, or two semesters at full with pay after a minimum of five consecutive years of service at Jacksonville University.

Faculty will submit a proposal outlining their plan to the division chair or comparable unit administrator and to the Faculty Affairs Committee a full year prior to the leave start date. No more than ten percent of the eligible faculty members may be awarded leaves with pay during any given semester. A faculty member may reapply for subsequent leaves after five additional years of service, not including the year on leave. Faculty the academic dean, and the CAO. Upon completion of the period of leave the faculty member shall describe their activities in their faculty annual activities report.

Time spent by a faculty member on leave with pay shall be credited toward years of
